LIBRARY COLLECTION MANAGEMENT POLICY AND MANUAL FOR LIBRARY USERS

INTRODUCTION

St Louis College of Education was established to fulfil the following objectives:

- to provide higher education;
- to undertake research;
- to disseminate knowledge;
- and to foster relations with outside persons and bodies.

The library's mission therefore, is to play its full part in support of the academic function of the College namely teaching, learning and research.

Towards this end the library does the following:

- Acquires, organizes, stores and disseminates information in the form of books, journals and other non-book materials needed for academic work.
- Instructs readers in the effective and efficient use of the library and its resources.
- Provides the physical facilities and equipment needed for the purposeful use of the resources.

To execute these functions, the administration is used here to refer to the process of efficiently organizing people and resources so as to direct activities towards the achievement of common goals and objectives.

One of the fundamental functions of the library and information profession is collection management. It is the aspect of the practice that is responsible for selecting and acquiring information materials that will enable Librarians and Information Specialists to perform the myriad of functions to the users effectively. In other words, it refers to the process of systematically building library collections to serve study, teaching, recreational and other needs of library users. The processes include planning, organizing, controlling and directing for continuing acquisition and evaluation of collections to determine how well they serve user needs.

Overall, collection management encompasses many library operations ranging from the selection of individual titles for purchase to the withdrawal of expired materials.

1. PURPOSE, SCOPE AND CONTEXT OF THE POLICY

The policy covers areas and disciplines taught in the College and any other subjects relevant to the teaching, research and learning interests of the College.

The purpose of the Collection Management Policy is to provide a framework for the maintenance and development of the College Library's collection, to indicate priorities, to establish selection criteria across the range of different subjects, language and media and to create a consistent and coherent basis for the future development of the collections.

The policy is an inclusive statement of aims rather than a description of the collections which have been built up in the past. It sets out the College Library's aspirations, which are tended to be realistic rather than utopian. The policy would provide guidance to staff engaged in selection. It is not exhaustive in its provisions and no item considered for acquisition would be unambiguously excluded by the policy.

It is intended to provide information to staff, suppliers and to readers about the principles on which the collections are acquired, to create an awareness of the objectives and to form the basis for future development and modifications as circumstances require.

2. POLICY STATEMENT

The College Library would collect materials in multiple formats, including books, journals, audio-visuals and electronic materials contingent upon the Library's ability to purchase and appropriate equipment and technology for access to non-print resources.

At least one copy/set of General Reference Materials such as the Encyclopaedia, subject Bibliographies, Abstracts, Indexes, Dictionaries etc should be acquired for the Issue/Reference.

3. MISSION STATEMENT

The primary function of the College Library is to support the teaching, learning and research needs of the College. This responsibility includes providing materials for current research and teaching as well as anticipating future needs, taking into accounts the development and introduction of new teaching programmes and new areas of research interest. In addition, the policy would collect materials covering other non-credit courses which are likely to generate interest.

4. USERS/PATRONS

The collection of the College Library is primarily intended to serve the Students and Staff of the College as well as the community within the locality. The collection would provide materials for student course work, independent study and material for the various departments within the College.

5. TOOLS AND AIDS

The College Library uses the Library of Congress Classification Scheme (LCC) as a tool to classify the materials in the library. Aids that are used in processing library materials include Cataloguing-In-Publication (CIP), subject dictionaries, Ulrich's International Periodical, subject bibliographies, classification manual, biographical dictionaries, online guides, etc.

6. BUDGET

The College library has a budget which is centrally controlled. The budget for purchase of library materials is set up by management. Ten percent (10%) of the budget for the College is allocated to the Library for the purchase of materials for the College Library. The library should make allocation for the purchase of new resources periodically.

7. COPYRIGHT POLICY

Copyright is a form of intellectual property that protects a variety of literary, artistic, musical and dramatic endeavours as well as other works such as sound recordings and films. They are not ideas but they are expressions that are protected by Copyright Law.

The law gives owners of material exclusive rights to do certain things with their material. Copyright is intended to protect creative works from being used without the consent of the owner and to provide an incentive for creators to continue to create new materials. Copyright is a type of property that can be traded just like other types of property such as real estate. However, it is different from tangible property in that it can be copied or otherwise used easily without the knowledge of the owner (CAL, 2006).

In Ghana, Copyright Law is contained in the Copyright Act, 2005 (ACT 690).

8. PHOTOCOPYING OF LIBRARY MATERIALS

- These may not be photocopied at all – portions only with author's permission.
- Whole book or journal is not permitted to be photocopied for any purpose.

- Multiple copies of whole works not allowed for groups.
- Reasonable portions of works will be allowed to be photocopied for research and private study.
- Where work is 1-50 pages for instance, a maximum of 10% will be allowed for copying.
- All copies are to be done in the library.
- Electronic resources available to the Library shall be licensed by the College for non-commercial use by faculty, staff, students and other permitted users. These materials must be used for educational or research purposes only. Additional restrictions may apply to on-site users of certain databases. The terms and conditions of agreement between the College and vendors/publishers of these electronic resources shall regulate the use of the databases.

9. SELECTION POLICY

The following selection criteria would be used when making purchasing decisions:

- Curriculum relevance and level
- Anticipated use
- Positive reviews or evaluation
- Quality of content, accuracy and balance
- Reputation of publisher, creator, etc.
- Date; timelines (currency)
- Price
- Local content
- Unique, fills a gap in the collection
- Whenever a material is simultaneously available in hardback and paperback and the content of both versions are identical, then the hardback is preferred.
- Pamphlet materials are often not suitable for purchase but significant, or if there is a depth of materials published in a more substantial format.
- Journals which have been indexed and abstracted by indexing and abstracting agencies would be considered.

10. SUBJECT CONTENT

The selection of materials for the College Library would cover all the Programmes run in the College. Three (3) programmes run in the College are;

- 4-Year Bachelor of Education – Early Grade Education
- 4-Year Bachelor of Education – Upper Primary Education
- 4-Year Bachelor of Education–JHS Education (Language and Home Economics).

Selection and purchases will be shared equally according to the courses offered. However, preference would be given to a course that is limited as far as materials are concerned to ensure balance of information resources.

11. SELECTION AIDS

The Librarian would rely on these essential selection aids in selecting materials for the College Library. These include:

- New library acquisition lists from other libraries within the subject specialty
- Guide to review
- Publishers' catalogues
- Book reviews in journals and newspapers
- National bibliographies
- Visits to bookshops and exhibitions
- Recommended books from HODs

12. MULTIPLE COPIES AND REPLACEMENT COPIES

The aim of the College library is to acquire as many library materials that meet its selection criteria as possible. However, because of financial constraint, only a single copy of each work would be acquired, which is then housed at the most appropriate site. Occasionally, circumstances necessitate the acquisition of more than one copy, e.g. English Language Dictionaries. Additional copies usually of reference materials needed for staff purpose on a long term and continuous basis are occasionally acquired where the need arises. Replacement of missing materials when their absence is detected.

13. SELECTION RESPONSIBILITY

This involves stakeholders who are involved in the selection of library materials. They consist of the following:

- The Librarian
- Academic Heads of Department
- Library Committee, which is headed by the Vice Principal. The Committee consists of some selected tutors as well as some students.
- Any tutor or student who may have interest in the library can be allowed to be part of the selection process.

These stakeholders would solicit purchase request from departmental members and their students and then to the Librarian. The department would liaise with the Librarian in order to choose materials to support the needs of the College and provide a balanced collection in each subject area.

In turn, the Librarian has the responsibility for selecting materials for particular subject areas. However, request for the purchase of materials may be rejected if they fall outside the selection criteria described in this document or on the grounds of cost, particularly, when a continuing financial commitment such as a periodical subscription is involved or the library has embarked on a major project that has affected the library's budget.

14. ACQUISITION POLICY

Pragmatic, information needs-based acquisition policy would be adopted to ensure the College Library achieves its objectives. To develop a dynamic acquisition policy it would be most appropriate to involve the Library Committee members and the students' body on a consultative basis on all matters concerning the Library. The Library shall normally acquire materials in English Language.

15. STOCK QUANTITY AND QUALITY

Each discipline studied in the College would be allocated with an average stock of at least 50 relevant books quarterly for the purpose of running the programmes efficiently. Adequate and accurate statistics or records of the stocks and equipment acquired for the Library would be kept.

16. SOURCE OF STOCK ACQUISITION

Library materials may be acquired through various ways such as donations (gifts-in-kind), interlibrary lending, exchanges, co-operate acquisition and direct purchases.

17. DIRECT PURCHASE

To acquire what the users need, it is advisable for the library to purchase the specified materials from the open market. Since other sources such as donations, legal deposits, interlibrary lending etc. may not yield the prescribed dividends. Hence, purchasing from the management's budget is highly recommended. Acquisition of materials would follow the Public Procurement Act (2003), Act 663.

18. DONATIONS

Depending on their suitability and relevance to the College Library, donations would be additional source of acquiring library materials and equipment especially in the face of a meagre budget.

However, the library would accept donations of materials on the basis that final deposit of materials is at the discretion of the Library Committee. The Library would not accept materials that require appraisals or which requires issuance of tax receipts.

The Library would accept materials in accordance with its collection development policy and therefore select from donated materials those items that are suitable to the collection. However, to avoid “useless” or junk donation and to ensure student safety and security, as well as protecting patrons’ interest, the following donations would be rejected outright:

- Donations viewed to be poor or inferior in quality, physically deteriorated materials or materials that can be injurious to the health of the users.
- The information content of the material is not beneficial to users and/ or contravenes existing laws of the state (e.g. pornographic materials, etc.).
- Donations with unfavourable and unacceptable conditionality which does not augur well for the library.
- Out-of-date materials.

19.SUITABLE/ACCEPTABLE DONATIONS

- Monetary donations
- Specialized research materials
- Unique and scholarly publications
- Electronic materials- computers, CDs, DVDs, etc.

21. CO-OPERATIVE ACQUISITION

This is where a group of libraries team up to share the acquisition of materials among themselves. In the current world of globalization, no individual organization and for that matter a library can afford to operate in isolation from other organizations in their industry. Many industries in order for them to share resources and ideas among their group members, and also to have a common front, tend to form co-operations. It is in this vein that the College library is opened to join a consortium whose goals are in line with the Colleges’ curricular. Consortia are therefore formed to help share resources to reduce the cost of collection development in a single library and also bring about other benefits.

22. STOCK MANAGEMENT

There is the need to ensure professional management of stock. This is to avoid providing unsuitable stock of materials to the users. It would also help the Librarian to know the quality of stock available and to ensure their safety and security through proper preservation method. This would call for stock taking, stock revision and preservation management.

23. STOCK TAKING

Stock count would be done on an annual basis to ensure that library materials are not lost and to know the quality of books available. Adequate and accurate statistics of the stocks holding would be kept. New allocations would be counted to make sure that actual number of books allocated tallies with the waybill or invoice. This would help monitor the movement of stock. It would enable the staff to know lost books, those on loans (issues), overdue, the withdrawals discarded and those due for binding.

24. STOCK REVISION

This would be done quarterly to determine the suitability, adequacy, currency or recency and how balanced the existing stock is.

25. PRESERVATION MANAGEMENT

An important aspect of Collection Management Policy is the preservation of library materials. There is no doubt that library materials are very expensive. Hence, there is the need to ensure that they are always in good condition.

Patrons accessing information resources would be educated to avoid eating and drinking in the library; lest food particles and water attract insects and even rodents which could damage the materials.

Users would be educated on how to care for materials in their custody. Paper documents and audio-visuals would be handled with utmost care and kept under the appropriate temperature and humidity levels.

Library materials would be regularly cleaned and dusted in order to ensure their lifespan. This is because if materials are allowed to gather dust they would deteriorate rapidly. Shelves would be regularly cleaned. Also, library materials that have intrinsic value would have to be protected by plastic sleeves or packets.

Materials that are constantly used would be rebound so as to ensure that it is not torn. As part of conservation duties Library staff would use paper adhesive to repair torn pages of a book. Materials that have been defaced would be repaired by using appropriate eraser to remove the markings.

In situations where pages of books are removed, photocopies of the relevant pages would be obtained from another source and then put in the appropriate places in the mutilated book.

26. BOOK BINDING

Books with imperfect binding would be reinforced to prolong their lifespan. All physically mutilated books would be withdrawn either for binding or discarded if they are beyond repairs.

27. WEEDING STOCK

It is a normal process in collection development management to weed some materials from time to time. Weeding is a process of removing some library materials from the shelves because they are obsolete in terms of the content, physical damage beyond use/ repair (excessively used).

Since it is prudent to keep attractive books for clients, materials under the following criteria would be withdrawn, and/or discarded:

- Circulation history (has not been circulated in five years)
- Cancellation of a course or programme
- Outdated or inaccurate material
- Superseded editions where new edition has significant use
- Fiction books which have not circulated in the past three years would be considered candidates for weeding.
- Some indexes and articles that are in printed form might be weeded once the library acquire electronic version.
- Physical deterioration of material
- Incomplete set (missing parts)

28. MARKETING OF LIBRARY SERVICES

A library with rich information resources but its users are not aware of it, is a ‘dead’ information centre. Therefore, the Librarian would be the sole manager to market the library services in consultation with the Library Committee. Hence, marketing will be included in the library’s budget.

Additionally, an income-generation unit for project work production and photocopying services shall be attached to the library.

29. POLICY IMPLEMENTATION, EVALUATION AND REVISION

The policy would be implemented by the Library Committee, the Librarian together with College Management. Implementation Committee would be formed out of these bodies which have the sole task of implementing the various highlights of the policy.

On a yearly basis, the policy would be evaluated to see whether it is being effectively and efficiently implemented in order to update the policy by adding new ideas to it.

30. MATERIAL RETENTION POLICY

As support for teaching, learning and research in the College, the general philosophy is to retain indefinitely materials which have been acquired. There is a presumption in favour of retention and the overwhelming majority of the Library's holdings are retained on a permanent basis.

However, the College library shall maintain an active collection with evaluation by the library staff to ensure its usefulness and relevance to the users. The library's policy for removal of materials shall be based on the elimination of materials which have lost the value for which they were originally selected and which no longer meet the library's objectives.

The library reviews its collection on a regular basis to ensure adequate collection to meet user needs. Items that have historical and monetary value would be retained.

It is the responsibility of the library staff to assess the need for replacing material that is changed, withdrawn, otherwise lost from the collection. This decision would be influenced by popular interest, adequacy of coverage in the subject area, the number of other copies in the library system, significance, cost and availability.
